

INVESTING

Q. How much money do I need to invest in a mutual fund?

A. Mutual funds usually offer low initial investment amounts - some as low as $250. The fees associated with mutual funds vary and can be lower than other investment alternatives. Mutual funds are offered by prospectus, which contains complete information about the objectives, risk, fees and minimum investment amounts. It should be read carefully before investing.

It is also quite easy to add to your investment through automatic payment plans or at your own personal discretion in amounts as low as $50. Mutual funds can be an easy and effective way to build a portfolio. They can help you save and invest for long-term growth or current income.
